

Negro Amaro

It is a very vigorous vine cultivar, with a medium bud burst period and a medium maturation period. The grape production is abundant and constant.

It gives a full bodied and round garnet-red coloured wine with a bitterish taste.

It can be an excellent wine for blending.

L'INNOVAZIONE IN VITICOLTURA

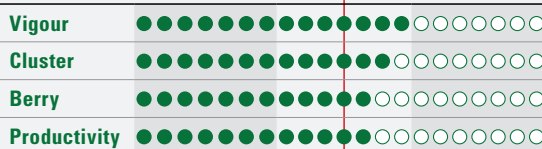

VCR CLONES

VCR10

Average of the cultivar

Origin:
Cutrofiano (LE)

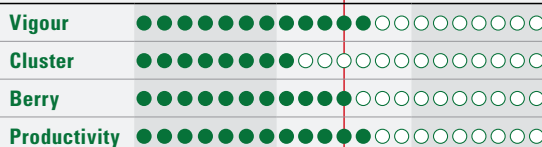

Oenological aptitude: this clone is suitable for structured, richly coloured wines. It can be also suitable for the production of "rosé" wines.

VCR123

Average of the cultivar

Origin:
Lizzano (TA)

Oenological aptitude: this clone is suitable for structured fruity-flowery (violet) wines with an excellent content of anthocyanins.

Sensory analysis:

◆ AVERAGE OF THE CULTIVAR ▲ VCR10 ■ VCR123

